Details:

After-school study is an opportunity for students to work and study quietly in a secure, supervised environment. All attendees, and their parents, must agree to the following rules and conditions before being allowed entry:

- 1) After-school study starts promptly at 3:30 and ends precisely at 6:00 (on Wednesdays: 1:15-3:45). There will be no exceptions to this rule in order to prevent disruptions and distractions.
- 2) A student must bring all necessary books with him at the start of the period. Students should always have an extra book, in case planned work is completed.
- 3) There will be one scheduled break for the toilet and a snack. Only water may be consumed in the Study Room.
- 4) Phones will not be used in Study, except under special circumstances, arranged with the Supervisor.
- 5) No talking. At all. This is not a social club or a tutoring session. It is for quiet homework and revision. Students will be given a one word verbal warning (their name) if they talk. A subsequent infraction will result in immediate dismissal. We would appreciate parental support with this practice.
- 6) Students are encouraged to attend all five days, but they (or their parents) may decide to avail of it only on certain days due to other commitments. The full fee is still applicable, except for rugby and basketball players, due to their considerable time commitments.
- 7) The organiser and regular supervisor is Mr. Latvis, who may be contacted through email at latvisc@stconleths.ie
- 8) Attendance will be monitored in the following fashion.
 - a. Students' Journals will be stamped at the start of study by the supervisor.
 - b. During each study session, parents will receive an email attesting to their child's presence.
No email=your child is absent.

To join after-school study, please pay through EasyPayments Plus on the website. Study starts on Monday, January 8th.
